

Comenius Conference in Droninglund , Denmark 6th -10th November 2013

Report about a day in the Droninglund Gymnasium

At half past six my host woke me up like every day to get myself done for school and to have breakfast. After breakfast her father drove us to school. When we arrived at the school my host Ida told me the plan for the day. First we had a “German lesson” together with Danish students who learned the German language. We helped them to do their homework which was translating Danish texts in to German or as they call it “Tuskye”

After their lessons we went to a music class. The students of this class showed us a Danish song and a dance. We had to learn this dance and song for an event on the last day of our trip. We also learned that in the Danish school system they have breaks during the lessons and during the breaks they do sports or play games to lose stress and get more active for the next learning process.

The school building with many different areas for work or meetings of the students looked very beautiful and invites students to spend a lot of time in school.
