

Comenius Conference in Exeter 2nd- 6th April, 2014

Friday, 4th April 2014

Our day started at 8 o'clock with a typical British breakfast. After that we went to school and met all together in the assembly hall. There we had time to prepare our presentations until the Mayor of Exeter came. The Mayor talked about herself and the Guild Hall which we visited later and where we had a guided tour. We were told about the history of the Guild Hall and the Guild Wars. Before presenting our topics of local democracy we thanked the Mayor for visiting us and listened to Ben Bradshaw, the Member of the Parliament from Exeter. Our presentation was about a plebiscite in Berlin concerning the Tempelhofer Field. Our team was a bit nervous as one of our members was missing, but in the end everything went well. After that we had time for lunch and getting to know some pupils from other countries. It was a very good and relaxed atmosphere. After finishing the presentations we went out with our hosts to explore Exeter. Exeter was a big difference for us because we just know the life in a large city.
